UPDATE 03/18/22 1355 hours: Suspect has been taken into custody, in California.

On 03-11-2022, 53-year-old Jack Woldrop was involved in a domestic disturbance in Kennewick where he allegedly assaulted a 63-year-old female victim and drove her against her will out of the Tri-Cities. While stopped in Ellensburg, the female escaped the vehicle and sought help from a citizen. Ellensburg PD responded and began an investigation but Woldrop had fled. The female victim was provided immediate medical attention and the Kennewick Police Department was notified of the incident. KPD detectives responded to Ellensburg and conducted an investigation. The investigation developed probable cause for Woldrop for Kidnapping, Felony Assault DV, and a Felony Order Violation.

Local and federal law enforcement are actively searching for Waldrop, who was last seen in eastern Washington (Ellensburg & Richland), in his white 2014 Ford F-150 truck (Washington license C34986R). Waldrop often sleeps in his vehicle and has ties to Boise, Idaho and Salem, Oregon, as well as other locations in Washington and California. Waldrop is described as being 6'1", 200 pounds with brown hair. He was last seen wearing a blue polo shirt, khaki short, black shoes (photos attached). He is also known to wear an orange Harley Davidson hat.

Anyone who sees Woldrop or his vehicle, please notify your local law enforcement agency.
